Habitat for Humanity of the Chesapeake names Steve Bolton as Chief Operating Officer

(BALTIMORE, Md.) Stephen (Steve) Bolton has been named Chief Operating Officer of Habitat for Humanity of the Chesapeake. In this role, Steve will provide organization, team building, growth and other leadership competencies to Construction, Family Services, Community Engagement, Volunteer Engagement and ReStores service departments.

"We are excited to have Steve join Habitat Chesapeake in this key role," said Mike Posko, Habitat Chesapeake CEO. "He will be a crucial component to our organization's structure and a valuable asset to the team".

"I've been fortunate enough to work with Habitat for Humanity in Maine. I'm happy to be home in Baltimore, where I can continue the good work of building affordable housing for low-income families," said Steve Bolton.

Steve has 17 years of Habitat experience. He most recently served as an Executive Director in Maine. He additionally has served throughout New England. Steve has a solid history of developing and cultivating collaborative relationships by constantly challenging and leading those associated with the organization to step outside of their comfort zones to achieve mission centered sustainable results.

About Habitat for Humanity of the Chesapeake

Seeking to put God's love into action, Habitat for Humanity of the Chesapeake (www.habitatchesapeake.org) brings people together to build homes, communities, and hope. Since 1982, Habitat for Humanity of the Chesapeake has partnered with more than 700 families in Baltimore City, and Anne Arundel, Baltimore and Howard counties through home construction, rehabilitation and repairs, and by increasing access to improved shelter through products and services. Habitat Chesapeake also advocates to improve access to decent and affordable shelter and offers a variety of housing support services that enable families with limited means to make needed improvements on their homes as their time and resources allow.
